A Letter From the State Superintendent

To the Citizens of Wisconsin:

Wisconsin has long been a model for other states in terms of education quality. However, the world is rapidly becoming a more complex place. As a result, we must expect greater academic achievement from our children today if they are to be adequately prepared for the challenges of tomorrow.

The only way to ensure that Wisconsin's students have the skills and abilities to be successful in this rapidly changing technological world is to set clear, high academic standards that describe precisely what today's students must learn and be able to do in order to be successful in their adult lives. This is why we focused our efforts over the past two years creating model academic standards in all subject areas. While Wisconsin's Model Academic Standards do demand more of our students, we are confident that our students are equal to the task.

These model academic standards represent the work of a task force made up of people from diverse backgrounds. Educators, parents, and business people produced the academic content and performance standards in this document. Drafts were subjected to public engagement in which many additional people offered input.

It must be stressed that these standards are not intended to limit local districts. Instead they are a model to be met or exceeded. Our hope is that the standards will shape teaching and learning in Wisconsin's more than 2000 school buildings. The standards will define the criteria by which one can judge the quality of education programs. While many schools already have clearly defined high academic standards, many others may wish to review and perhaps change their learning goals and teaching methods.

Standards logically provide the foundation for testing; and, testing results are a critical barometer of both student and teacher success. Local tests that are well-aligned to the standards are a clear indicator of students' preparation for future education, civic responsibility, and meaningful employment.

In closing, I want to commend the members of the task force who gave freely of their time to produce the standards in this document. Finally, the citizens of Wisconsin must be thanked for devoting their time and effort to the development of the final draft of Wisconsin's Model Academic Standards.

John T. Benson
State Superintendent

Acknowledgments

Wisconsin's Model Academic Standards for Business would not have been possible without the efforts of many people. Members of the task force freely gave their time and expertise in developing the academic standards. In addition, their employing agencies generously granted them time to work on this initiative. Introduction

Defining the Academic Standards

What are academic standards? Academic standards specify what students should know and be able to do, what they might be asked to do to give evidence of standards, and how well they must perform. They include content, performance, and proficiency standards.

- Content standards refer to what students should know and be able to do.
- Performance standards tell how students will show that they are meeting a standard.
- Proficiency standards indicate how well students must perform.

Why are academic standards necessary? Standards serve as rigorous goals for teaching and learning. Setting high standards enables students, parents, educators, and citizens to know what students should have learned at a given point in time. The absence of standards has consequences similar to lack of goals in any pursuit. Without clear goals, students may be unmotivated and confused.

Contemporary society is placing immense academic demands on students. Clear statements about what students must know and be able to do are essential to ensure that our schools offer students the opportunity to acquire the knowledge and skills necessary for success.

Why are state-level academic standards important? Public education is a state responsibility. The state superintendent and legislature must ensure that all children have equal access to high quality education programs. At a minimum, this requires clear statements of what all children in the state should know and be able to do as well as evidence that students are meeting these expectations. Furthermore, academic standards form a sound basis on which to establish the content of a statewide assessment system.

Why does Wisconsin need its own academic standards? Historically, the citizens of Wisconsin are very serious and thoughtful about education. They expect and receive very high performance from their schools. While educational needs may be similar among states, values differ. Standards should reflect the collective values of the citizens and be tailored to prepare young people for economic opportunities that exist in Wisconsin, the nation, and the world.

Developing the Academic Standards

Who wrote the academic standards and what resources were used? Academic standards for the non-state-assessed subjects were drafted by task forces appointed by the state superintendent. The task forces consisted of educators, parents, board of education members, and business and industry people. After reviewing national standards in the subject area, standards from other states, and standards from local Wisconsin school districts, each task force diligently and thoughtfully composed the academic standards for its respective subject.

How was the public involved in the standards process? Public input is crucial to the success of implementing high-quality standards. It was absolutely essential that the final academic standards reflect the values of Wisconsin's citizens.

Forums, focus groups, and input on the discussion drafts of the academic standards were used for getting citizens' ideas. Drafts of the standards were widely available throughout the state—including the DPI home page available on the Internet. All input received serious consideration.

Using the Academic Standards

Must a district adopt Wisconsin's Model Academic Standards? Adopting Wisconsin's Model Academic Standards is voluntary, not mandatory. By law, however, districts must have academic standards in place by August 1, 1998, in reading and writing, geography and history, mathematics, and science. Districts may adopt the model state standards, or standards from other sources, or develop their own standards. Although not required by law to have standards in the other subjects, districts may choose to adopt or develop academic standards in those areas as well.

How will local districts use the academic standards? Districts may use the academic standards as guides for developing local grade-by-grade curriculum. Implementing standards may require some school districts to upgrade school and district curriculums. In some cases, this may result in significant changes in instructional methods and materials, local assessments, and professional development opportunities for the teaching and administrative staff.

Do academic standards in the vocational areas mean that districts need to offer electives in these subjects at the elementary and middle school levels? Most subjects are developmental—they build upon previously learned knowledge and skills. In addition, subjects include knowledge and skills that are of great value to all students regardless of their future life and career plans.

The model academic content and performance standards developed for the vocational areas include subject matter that all students should learn. In many cases, students are already learning these in elementary and middle school. The academic standards for vocational areas are a means to assist teachers in knowing if they are meeting the needs of students by preparing them for future opportunities.

With the academic standards in vocational areas at the fourth and eighth grade levels, it is not expected new elective courses will need to be instituted. Current middle and high school vocational teachers are encouraged to work with elementary and middle school teachers from other subject areas to connect curriculum experiences.

Why do some of the subjects also benchmark for “emphasis students” as well as for grades 4, 8, and 12? Most subjects include knowledge and skills that are of great value to all students. Identified knowledge and skills should be part of the performance standards for all students. In addition, some vocational subjects include more in-depth knowledge and skills that are necessary for specific applications. Students should be able to pursue courses requiring in-depth knowledge and skills that are consistent with their life and career plans. The standards directed at “emphasis students” address a much higher level of performance in that subject.

How do DPI skill standards fit with the academic standards currently being developed? Academic content, performance, and proficiency standards focus on expectations about what all students should know and be able to do, how they will show that they have met the standards, and at what level or quality of performance.

Skill standards include content from multiple disciplines and define what productive workers in an occupational cluster or industry sector need to know and be able to do.

What is the difference between academic standards and curriculum? Standards are statements about what students should know and be able to do, what they might be asked to do to give evidence of learning, and how well they should be expected to know or do it. Curriculum is the program devised by local school districts used to prepare students to meet standards. It consists of activities and lessons at each grade level, instructional materials, and various instructional techniques. In short, standards define what is to be learned at certain points in time, and from a broad perspective, what performances will be accepted as evidence that the learning has occurred. Curriculum specifies the details of the day-to-day schooling at the local level.

What is the link between statewide academic standards and statewide testing? Statewide academic standards in mathematics, English language arts, science, and social studies determine the scope of statewide testing. While these standards are much broader in content than any single Wisconsin Student Assessment System (WSAS) test, they do describe the range of knowledge and skills that may appear on the tests. If content does not appear in the academic standards, it will not be part of a WSAS test. The statewide standards clarify what must be studied to prepare for WSAS tests. If students have learned all of the material indicated by the standards in the assessed content areas, they should do very well on the state tests.

Relating the Academic Standards to All Students

Parents and educators of students with disabilities, with limited English proficiency (LEP), and with accelerated needs may ask why academic standards are important for their students. Academic standards serve as a valuable basis for establishing meaningful goals as part of each student's developmental progress and demonstration of proficiency. The clarity of academic standards provides meaningful, concrete goals for the achievement of students with disabilities, LEP, and accelerated needs consistent with all other students.

Academic standards may serve as the foundation for individualized programming decisions for students with disabilities, LEP, and accelerated needs. While the vast majority of students with disabilities and LEP should be expected to work toward and achieve these standards, accommodations and modifications to help these students reach the achievement goals will need to be individually identified and implemented. For students with disabilities, these decisions are made as part of their individualized education program (IEP) plans. Accelerated students may achieve well beyond the academic standards and move into advanced grade levels or into advanced coursework.

Clearly, these academic standards are for all students. As our state assessments are aligned with these standards and school districts adopt, adapt, or develop their own standards and multiple measures for determining proficiencies of students, greater accountability for the progress of all students can be assured. In Wisconsin this means all students reaching their full individual potential, every school being accountable, every parent a welcomed partner, every community supportive, and no excuses.

Applying the Academic Standards Across the Curriculum

When community members and employers consider what they want citizens and employees to know and be able to do, they often speak of broad areas of applied knowledge such as communication, thinking, problem-solving, and decision-making. These areas connect or go beyond the mastery of individual subject areas. As students apply their knowledge both within and across the various curricular areas, they develop the concepts and complex thinking of educated persons.

Community members need these skills to function as responsible citizens. Employers prize those employees who demonstrate these skills because they are people who can continue learning and connect what they have learned to the requirements of a job. College and university faculty recognize the need for these skills as the means of developing the level of understanding that separates the expert from the beginner.

Teachers in every class should expect and encourage the development of these shared applications, both to promote the learning of the subject content and to extend learning across the curriculum. These applications fall into five general categories:

1) Application of the Basics

2) Ability to Think

- Problem-solving
- Informed decision-making
- Systems thinking
- Critical, creative, and analytical thinking
- Imagining places, times, and situations different from one's own
- Developing and testing a hypothesis
- Transferring learning to new situations

3) Skill in Communication

- Constructing and defending an argument
- Working effectively in groups
- Communicating plans and processes for reaching goals
- Receiving and acting on instructions, plans, and models
- Communicating with a variety of tools and skills

4) Production of Quality Work

- Acquiring and using information
- Creating quality products and performances
- Revising products and performances
- Developing and pursuing positive goals

5) Connections with Community

- Recognizing and acting on responsibilities as a citizen
- Preparing for work and lifelong learning
- Contributing to the aesthetic and cultural life of the community
- Seeing oneself and one's community within the state, nation, and world
- Contributing and adapting to scientific and technological change

Overview of Business

Business activities are such an integral part of the day-to-day routine that most people do not realize the importance or scope of the American business enterprise.

Business education's primary mission is to prepare students for business occupations and to teach students about business. Education about business focuses on those aspects of business that affect every member of society, whereas preparation for business occupations focuses on the preparation of individuals to own or operate their own business or be a worker in a variety of business functions.

Business curriculums have a broad range of diversity in scope and level. Teachers can incorporate the development of concepts and values that are considered important by the school or community or that are needed by a particular student.

Within the local school district and community, it is the business educator who must develop and nurture a comprehensive business program. The support base for the program should include former students, business employees/employers, informed educators, and all others who recognize that business education can improve the quality of life for the individual and the well-being of the community. A business advisory committee is a vital link to the establishment and maintenance of a business/education partnership.

These content and performance standards represent the combined efforts of educators (K-12, technical college, and university), parents, business people (employees and employers), and school board members. They were drawn from the National Standards for Business Education published by the National Business Education Association, the Guide to Curriculum Planning in Business Education published by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction, and the Wisconsin Cooperative Education Skill Standards for Business published by the Wisconsin Department of Public Instruction.

The Wisconsin Model Academic Standards for Business may be adopted or adapted by school districts with cooperation and input from parents and other business and community members. These standards are not a full curriculum nor a prescription for daily instructional practice. School districts can use these standards to build a complete curriculum specific to their students' needs. These standards are for all students (K-12) with additional standards for students who are preparing for employment in a business occupation.

The Future Business Leaders of America chapters at the middle and high schools, along with cooperative education and school-to-work experiences, will be real life forums for developing, refining, and/or applying many of the curricular standards.

The business standards have been cross-referenced to the standards for English language arts (LA), mathematics (M), and social studies (SS). This was done to facilitate the inclusion of application and problem-solving using business standards as a means.

The standards are organized in several clusters. The performance standards identified for grades four, eight, and twelve have been developed for all students in all school districts. Performance standards for business students are also listed. These standards are for students who have completed advanced business courses.

A. COMMUNICATIONS

Content Standard

Students in Wisconsin will communicate in a clear, courteous, concise, and correct manner on personal and professional levels.

WRITTEN COMMUNICATIONS

Rationale:

Whether in the school setting, workplace, or personal life, it is essential to be an effective writer.

ORAL COMMUNICATIONS

Rationale:

Speaking and listening are essential communication skills. Whether in a personal or formal setting, communicators are required to listen, follow instructions, and deliver coherent messages.

WORKPLACE COMMUNICATIONS

Rationale:

Communication skills are essential to be successful in the workplace.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

By the end of grade 4 students will:

Written Communications

- A.4.1 Demonstrate correct spelling, grammar, word usage, and legible writing (see LA B.4.3)
- A.4.2 Write, edit, and revise an original, creative work incorporating correct spelling, grammar, and punctuation (see LA B.4.2)
- A.4.3 Compose simple requests for information (see LA B.4.1)
- A.4.4 Take simple notes (see LA F.4.1)
- A.4.5 Compose a standard business letter (see LA B.4.1, B.4.2)

Oral Communications

- A.4.6 Express wants, needs, and feelings (see LA C.4.3)
- A.4.7 Demonstrate the difference between opinion and fact (see LA C.4.2)

- A.4.9 Demonstrate telephone etiquette
- A.4.10 Follow oral directions (see LA C.4.2)
- A.4.11 Demonstrate the ability to listen for meaning (see LA C.4.2)
- A.4.12 Record complete and accurate messages and notes (see LA B.4.1)

Workplace Communications

- A.4.13 Give and follow simple instructions (see LA B.4.1, C.4.1, C.4.2)
- A.4.14 Greet people appropriately in a variety of situations (see LA D.4.2)
- A.4.15 Take turns communicating in a group situation (see LA C.4.1, C.4.3)
- A.4.16 Deliver informal appreciation messages in a variety of situations (see LA D.4.2, B.4.1)
- A.4.17 Make a written/oral request (see LA D.4.2)

By the end of grade 8 students will:

Written Communications

- A.8.1 Write, edit, and revise business correspondence, outlines, summaries, and reports using correct grammar, mechanics, and word usage (see LA B.8.1, B.8.2)
- A.8.2 Differentiate between paraphrasing, documentation, and plagiarism (see LA F.12.1)
- A.8.3 Demonstrate the ability to paraphrase and document sources (see LA F.12.1)
- A.8.4 Demonstrate an awareness to language bias (see LA C.8.1, D.8.2)
- A.8.5 Plan, draft, and revise a spontaneous piece that demonstrates effective language use, structure, style, and correctness (see B.8.2)

Oral Communications

- A.8.6 Present brief impromptu remarks pertaining to topics of current or general interest (see LA C.8.1)
- A.8.7 Research and present a speech relating to career choices (see LA C.8.1)
- A.8.8 Ask appropriate questions when more information is needed (see LA C.8.3)
- A.8.9 Demonstrate and interpret nonverbal cues (see LA C.8.3)
- A.8.10 Demonstrate respect for differences in regional and multicultural communication (see LA C.8.1, D.8.2)

Workplace Communications

- A.8.11 Identify and define the components of the communication process (see LA C.8.2)
- A.8.12 Identify barriers to communications
- A.8.13 Make introductions in a variety of situations
- A.8.14 Describe the steps of problem-solving negotiation
- A.8.15 Describe the characteristics of an effective team
- A.8.16 Write a thank-you letter

By the end of grade 12 students will:

Written Communications

- A.12.1 Use a variety of references and resources (electronic and printed) for the purpose of writing business documents (see LA B.12.1, F.12.1, F.8.1)
- A.12.2 Produce technical writing such as memos, forms, instructions, letters, and resumes for appropriate audiences (see LA B.12.1)
- A.12.3 Write formal and informal reports supported by appropriate graphic aids (see LA B.12.1, B.12.3, E.12.1)
- A.12.4 Analyze and respond in writing to business situations (both individually and collaboratively) (see LA B.12.1, F.12.1)

Oral Communications

- A.12.5 Participate in group discussions for problem resolution (see LA C.12.13)
- A.12.6 Organize and lead discussions; participate in meetings; answer questions in formal and informal situations (see LA C.12.13)
- A.12.7 Identify and overcome major barriers to listening (see LA C.12.2, C.12.3)
- A.12.8 Assess and respond to a speaker's nonverbal messages (see LA C.12.2)
- A.12.9 Give examples of how nonverbal messages have different meanings in various cultures (see LA D.12.2)
- A.12.10 Demonstrate interactive listening techniques (see LA C.12.3)

Workplace Communications

- A.12.11 Demonstrate strategies for overcoming communication barriers
- A.12.12 Respond appropriately to the audience and the situation
- A.12.13 Demonstrate effective negotiation skills
- A.12.14 Describe strategies for communicating with supervisors
- A.12.15 Describe strategies for communicating with co-workers
- A.12.16 Describe strategies for communicating with customers/clients
- A.12.17 Prepare persuasive messages for a variety of situations
- A.12.18 Accept or decline a request
- A.12.19 Identify elements of good customer service
- A.12.20 Participate as a productive member of a group

Business students will:

Written Communications

- A.BS.1 Research and write business-specific technical reports that incorporate graphic aids (see LA B.12.1, B 12.2, B.12.3, E.12.1)
- A.BS.2 Analyze and respond to complex business case studies

A.BS.3 Edit business documents to improve content and effectiveness (see LA B.12.2)

A.BS.4 Compose, edit, and produce executive summaries (see LA B.12.1, B.12.2, B.12.3)

Oral Communications

A.BS.5 Give a formal presentation using appropriate graphics, media, and support materials (see LA C.12.1, E.12.3)

A.BS.6 Present point of view on a current business issue

A.BS.7 Serve effectively as an interviewer or interviewee in public relations, civic, media, and community situations (see LA F.12.1)

A.BS.8 Evaluate media and oral presentations analytically and critically (see LA C.12.3, E.12.4)

A.BS.9 Preside at meetings

Workplace Communications

A.BS.10 Use negotiation strategies to resolve a conflict

A.BS.11 Demonstrate the ability to satisfy a customer's request

A.BS.12 Prepare and deliver a presentation for a specific business purpose

A.BS.13 Participate in and evaluate mock interviews

A.BS.14 Discuss the importance of verbal and nonverbal communications during an interview

B. INFORMATION SYSTEMS/TECHNOLOGY

Content Standard

Students in Wisconsin will select and apply current information systems/technology as they relate to personal and business decision-making in light of ethical and social issues.

Rationale:

Information systems/technology continue to change. Students must be able to select and apply from the tools available. In order to make informed decisions, the student must learn current technology as well as understand ethical and social issues related to the use of technology.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

By the end of grade 4 students will:

- B.4.1 Identify hardware components (see LA E.4.1)
- B.4.2 Open and close a program (see LA E.4.1)
- B.4.3 Save and retrieve a file (see LA E.4.1)
- B.4.4 Develop touch keyboarding techniques
- B.4.5 Use various input devices (see LA E.4.1)
- B.4.6 Compose simple information using a keyboard (see LA E.4.1, B.4.1)
- B.4.7 Proofread and edit documents (see LA B.4.2, E.4.5)
- B.4.8 Print a document (see LA F.4.1)
- B.4.9 Use graphic software to paint or draw (see LA E.4.3, E.4.1)
- B.4.10 Access the Internet (see LA F.4.1)
- B.4.11 Listen to speakers who use current technology (see LA E.4.5)

By the end of grade 8 students will:

- B.8.1 Identify hardware components inside the computer
- B.8.2 Have a basic understanding and use of file management
- B.8.3 Use a medium to store, retrieve, and backup information (see LA E.4.1)
- B.8.4 Explain when to use word processing, spreadsheet, database, and desktop publishing software
- B.8.5 Demonstrate touch keyboarding skills at acceptable speed and accuracy levels
- B.8.6 Use word processing software to compose, organize, and edit information
- B.8.7 Use spreadsheet software to create, store, retrieve, update, and delete data
- B.8.8 Use database software to store and manipulate data
- B.8.9 Proofread and edit documents
- B.8.10 Demonstrate the use of print functions

B.8.11 Identify security issues pertaining to computer systems

B.8.12 Use the Internet to obtain information

By the end of grade 12 students will:

B.12.1 Access, navigate, and use on-line services

B.12.2 Identify and use communication software

B.12.3 Enter and manipulate data using the touch method on a ten-key pad

B.12.4 Import text and graphics from other software programs

B.12.5 Use the integration features of a software package

B.12.6 Restart and recover from system failure and virus infection as necessary

B.12.7 Identify and compare types of programming languages

B.12.8 Contrast careers in the information technology industry

B.12.9 Describe emerging hardware and software

B.12.10 Import, export, and merge data

B.12.11 Identify electronic storage media

B.12.12 Analyze spreadsheet data

B.12.13 Use desktop publishing software to create documents (see LA E.8.3)

B.12.14 Use common features of multimedia software

B.12.15 Identify laws and rules pertaining to computer crime, fraud, and abuse

B.12.16 Practice a code of ethics for information systems

B.12.17 Describe how the information technology industry impacts society

B.12.18 Send and receive faxes

B.12.19 Use electronic mail

B.12.20 Send and respond to voice messages

B.12.21 Sort and file documents according to established procedures

Business students will:

- B.BS.1 Diagnose and solve problems related to the operation of computer equipment
- B.BS.2 Apply special features of software packages such as galleries, templates, macros, etc.
- B.BS.3 Describe how information systems have changed the workplace
- B.BS.4 Explain how information systems have contributed to worker productivity
- B.BS.5 Use data to create information to solve business problems
- B.BS.6 Use desktop publishing software to design, create, and produce a variety of publications (see LA E.8.3)
- B.BS.7 Import data, graphics, and scanned images using desktop publishing software
- B.BS.8 Use multimedia software to design, create, and produce a variety of presentations (see LA E.8.3)
- B.BS.9 Design and create a web page
- B.BS.10 Evaluate application software products in terms of their features
- B.BS.11 Customize application software
- B.BS.12 Generate complex, multipart documents
- B.BS.13 Use operating system commands
- B.BS.14 Generate business forms
- B.BS.15 Generate newsletters and brochures (see LA E.8.3)
- B.BS.16 Create documents by merging information
- B.BS.17 Establish and maintain a records management system

C. FINANCIAL PROCEDURES

Content Standard

Students in Wisconsin will use financial procedures to make decisions about planning, organizing, and allocating resources.

Rationale:

Making wise decisions is essential for the economic well being of our country. Students need financial knowledge to ensure they make the best decisions both personally and professionally. Whether it is daily transactions or investments for their future, students must understand how to use resources to develop economic growth.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

By the end of grade 4 students will:

- C.4.1 Recognize different denominations of currency and coins (see M B.4.3)
- C.4.2 Identify the value of each denomination (see M D.4.4)
- C.4.3 Calculate mathematics problems requiring adding, subtracting, multiplying, and dividing different denominations (see M B.4.5)
- C.4.4 Estimate mathematical calculations

By the end of grade 8 students will:

- C.8.1 Calculate sales tax (see M B.8.5)
- C.8.2 Make change in a sales transaction
- C.8.3 Determine the amount of savings needed for a short-term goal
- C.8.4 Verify the accuracy of financial calculations

By the end of grade 12 students will:

- C.12.1 Calculate simple interest on loans (see M D.12.3)
- C.12.2 Maintain and reconcile a checking account
- C.12.3 Prepare a budget of personal income and expenses

- C.12.4 Explain the use of credit cards, bank cards, debit cards, credit ratings, and loan applications
- C.12.5 Construct and read charts, tables, and graphs that summarize data from real world situations (see M F.12.2)
- C.12.6 Use calculators appropriately to aid computations and understanding (see M B.4.5)
- C.12.7 Contrast rental, lease, or purchase options of property
- C.12.8 Prepare a simple income tax form
- C.12.9 Contrast short- and long-term investment options

Business students will:

- C.BS.1 Identify, prepare, and analyze financial statements
- C.BS.2 Calculate loan payments with different interest rates (see M D.12.3)
- C.BS.3 Determine cash flow for a business
- C.BS.4 Compare budget figures to actual costs
- C.BS.5 Prepare and maintain payroll records

D. ECONOMICS

Content Standard:

Students in Wisconsin will use critical-thinking skills to function as citizens who are literate about economics through development of personal consumer economic skills and a knowledge of societal and governmental responsibility.

Rationale:

The American economy is based on a private enterprise system in which the sum total of the millions of individual choices made by consumers, workers, and citizens affect the decisions made by business owners and government officials. In order to make these informed decisions, individuals must clearly understand how the system operates while comprehending their role in the system.

PERFORMANCE STANDARDS

By the end of grade 4 students will:

- D.4.1 Understand that productive resources are limited and that people cannot have all the goods and services they want; as a result they must choose some things and give up others. Identify the opportunity cost of a decision when one alternative is chosen (see SS D.4.1, D.4.2, D.4.7)
- D.4.2 Define economic wants and explain how they are satisfied (see SS D.4.2)
- D.4.3 Identify factors that can influence the prices of goods and services

By the end of grade 8 students will:

- D.8.1 Describe the characteristics of a market system (i.e., private property, freedom of choice, self interest, competition, prices set in markets by supply and demand, and limited role of government)
- D.8.2 Give examples to explain how businesses depend upon workers with specialized skills to make production more efficient (see SS D.4.4)
- D.8.3 Identify consumer rights and responsibilities
- D.8.4 Give examples to show how government provides for the national defense, health and safety, environmental protection, defense of property rights, and the maintenance of free and competitive markets (see SS D.8.3, D.8.5, D.12.11)
- D.8.5 Apply economic concepts to consumer decision making, buying, saving, and investing (see SS D.8.1)

By the end of grade 12 students will:

- D.12.1 Describe the components of economic activity and illustrate how they interact with each other
- D.12.2 Describe the possible effects of the national debt on the level of economic activity in the long run (see SS D.8.6)
- D.12.3 Explain how consumer legislation may affect consumer product prices (see SS D.12.5)
- D.12.4 Demonstrate an understanding of current local, state, national, and international economic issues (see SS D.12.6, D.12.13)
- D.12.5 Describe the roles of business enterprises, consumers, and government in our mixed economy (see SS D.8.10, D.12.7, D.12.14)

- D.12.6 Explain how interest rates are determined by market forces and how they influence the amount of borrowing and saving by business investors, consumers, and government officials (see SS D.12.11)

Business students will:

- D.BS.1 Explain the basic characteristics of international trade including absolute and comparative advantage, barriers to free trade, exchange rate, and balance of trade
- D.BS.2 Analyze how income will be affected by factors such as supply and demand, location, level of education, type of industry, union or non-union membership, gender, ethnicity, skill levels, work ethics, worker productivity, and market value of what workers produce
- D.BS.3 Understand the necessity for choices and the role of the decision-making process for analyzing individual business and societal decisions
- D.BS.4 Compare and contrast the different types of economic systems (command, market, traditional, and mixed)
- D.BS.5 Explain the concepts of inflation, unemployment, and Gross Domestic Product and describe how they are measured

E. ENTREPRENEURSHIP

Content Standard
